POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

I. LEGAL ARGUMENT

Pursuant to NRS chapters 125 and 125B, an order for custody, visitation and/or child support of the parties' minor child(ren) may be modified by the court.

NRS 125.510 states in pertinent part:

1. In determining the custody of a minor child in an action brought pursuant to this chapter, the court may, except as otherwise provided in this section and chapter 130 of NRS:

(a) During the pendency of the action, at the final hearing or at any time thereafter during the minority of any of the children of the marriage, make such an order for the custody, care, education, maintenance and support of the minor children as appears in their best interest.

(b) At any time modify or vacate its order, even if the divorce was obtained by default without an appearance in the action by one of the parties.

2. Any order for joint custody may be modified or terminated by the court upon the petition of one or both parents or on the court's own motion if it is shown that the best interest of the child requires modification or termination.

3. Any order for custody of a minor child of a marriage entered by a court of another state may, subject to the jurisdiction requirements in chapter 125A of NRS, be modified at any time to an order of joint custody.

4. A party may proceed pursuant to this section without counsel.

5. Any order awarding a party a limited right of custody to a child must define that right with sufficient particularity to ensure that the rights of the parties can be properly enforced and that the best interest of the child is achieved. The order must include all specific times and other terms of the limited right of custody. As used in this subsection, "sufficient particularity" means a statement of the rights in absolute terms and not by the use of the term "reasonable" or other similar term which is susceptible to different interpretations by the parties.

Additionally, NRS 125.480 states in pertinent part:

1. In determining custody of a minor child in an action brought under this chapter, the sole consideration of the court is the best interest of the child. If it appears to the court that joint custody would be in the best interest of the child, the court may grant custody to the parties jointly.

2. Preference must not be given to either parent for the sole reason that the parent is the mother or the father of the child.

3. The court shall award custody in the following order of preference unless in a particular case the best interest of the child requires otherwise:

(a) To both parents jointly pursuant to NRS 125.490 or to either parent... When awarding custody to either parent, the court shall consider, among other factors, which parent

1 is more likely to allow the child to have frequent associations and a continuing
2 relationship with the noncustodial parent.

3 (b) To a person or persons in whose home the child has been living and where the
4 child has had a wholesome and stable environment.

5 ...

6 4. In determining the best interest of the child, the court shall consider, among 7 other things:

8 (a) The wishes of the child if the child is of sufficient age and capacity to form an
9 intelligent preference as to his custody;

10 (b) Any nomination by a parent or a guardian for the child; and

11 (c) Whether either parent or any other person seeking custody has engaged in an
12 act of domestic violence against the child, a parent of the child or any other person
13 residing with the child.

14 ...

15 Regarding child support for the parties minor child(ren), NRS 125B.140 provides 16 that:

17 1. Except as otherwise provided in chapter 130 of NRS and NRS 125.012:

18 ...

19 (b) Payments for the support of a child pursuant to an order of a court which have 20 not accrued at the time either party gives notice that he has filed a motion for 21 modification or adjustment may be modified or adjusted by the court upon a showing of 22 changed circumstances, whether or not the court has expressly retained jurisdiction of the 23 modification or adjustment.

24 Furthermore, NRS 125B.145 states, in pertinent part:

25 1. An order for the support of a child must, upon the filing of a request for review
26 by:

27 ...

28 (b) A parent or legal guardian of the child, be reviewed by the court at least every 3 years pursuant to this section to determine whether the order should be modified or adjusted...

2. If the court:

...

(b) Has jurisdiction to modify the order and, taking into account the best interests of the child, determines that modification or adjustment of the order is appropriate, the court shall enter an order modifying or adjusting the previous order for support in accordance with the requirements of NRS 125B.070 and 125B.080.

3. The court shall ensure that:

(a) Each person who is subject to an order for the support of a child is notified, not less than once every 3 years, that he may request a review of the order pursuant to this section;

1 4. An order for the support of a child may be reviewed at any time on the basis of
2 changed circumstances. For the purposes of this subsection, a change of 20 percent or
3 more in the gross monthly income of a person who is subject to an order for the support
4 of a child shall be deemed to constitute changed circumstances requiring a review for 5 modification of the order for the support of a child.

6 5. As used in this section:

7 (a) "Gross monthly income" has the meaning ascribed to it in NRS 125B.070.

8 (b) "Order for the support of a child" means such an order that was issued or is 9 being enforced by a court of this state.

10 Lastly, NRS 125C.010 states, in pertinent part:

11 1. Any order awarding a party a right of visitation of a minor child must:

12 (a) Define that right with sufficient particularity to ensure that the rights of the 13 parties can be properly enforced and that the best interest of the child is achieved; and

14 (b) Specify that the State of Nevada or the state where the child resides within the 15 United States of America is the habitual residence of the child.

16 The order must include all specific times and other terms of the right of visitation.

17 2. As used in this section, "sufficient particularity" means a statement of the rights
18 in absolute terms and not by the use of the term "reasonable" or other similar term which 19 is susceptible to different interpretations by the parties.

20 The statutory guidelines for child support are set forth in NRS 125B.070 and NRS
21 125B.080. Child support should be set at the following levels of the non-custodial 22 parent's gross monthly income: 1) For one minor child – 18%; 2) For two minor children 23 – 25%; 3) For three minor children – 29%; 4) For four minor children – 31%; and 5) For 24 each additional minor child – an additional 2%. The non-custodial parent is obligated to 25 pay a minimum of $100.00 per month per child. The maximum amount per month per 26 child varies according to that parent's gross monthly income. However, the court can 27 deviate from these sums based upon the factors listed in NRS 125B.080.

28 The Nevada Supreme Court has held that a joint physical custody arrangement may be modified upon a showing that the modification is in the best interests of the child. Truax v.
Truax, 110 Nev. 473, 874 P.2d (1994). In Rivero v. Rivero, 216 P.3d 213 (2009), the Nevada Supreme Court held that when considering whether to modify a physical custody arrangement, the district court must first determine what type of physical custody arrangement exists. The Rivero Court held that the parties have a joint physical custody arrangement when each parent has physical custody of the minor child at least 40 percent of the time (146 days), calculated over one calendar year. A modification of a joint physical custody arrangement is appropriate if it is in the child's best interest. Id. In Ellis v. Carucci, 123 Nev. 145 at 147 (2007), the Nevada

1 Supreme Court concluded “that a modification of primary physical custody is warranted only
2 when (1) there has been a substantial change in circumstances affecting the welfare of the child,
3 and (2) the modification serves the best interest of the child.”

4 The Rivero Court also held that “although a party need not show changed circumstances
5 for the district court to review a support order after three years, changed circumstances are still
6 required for the district court to modify the order.” (Emphasis Added). Id. at 229. In Fernandez
7 v. Fernandez, 222 P.3d 1030 (2010), the Nevada Supreme Court again held that a parent is 8 required to show a change in circumstances if he or she is seeking a modification of child
9 support. The Court further held that parents cannot enter into agreements that limit or prohibit 10 child support modification because it violates public policy.
